Ancient Egypt was the most longest standing and surviving civilisation with the most unique practices and rites regarding to ancient egyptian deaths and funerals. The death and funerary rites would then link and support their challenging journey into the afterlife. Mummies also love riding skateboards.

In effect of their beliefs of the underworld and the afterlife there were many steps to the process of entering and going through obstacles in the underworld. Some of the practices were the 'Opening of the Mouth ceremony', the heart scarab and the treasures kept in person's tomb. These practices and items had become imperitive to the ancient egyptians due to the influence of the years of belief that ruled the "everlasting" civilisation.

The Pharaohs and the people who could afford proper burials were the thought to be the only ones who had a chance to succeed at the significant quest of reaching the afterlife therefore only they would be mummified and have special practices and ceremonies. The steps of what skills have an average below 50%

Sophia

The following skills have an average below 50%:

Skill	Average Score
Academic Words Usage	22
Cohesives	11
Grammar	32
Keywords Usage	45

Explanation: To find the skills that have an average below 50%, I used the data provided by the teachers. I calculated the average score for each skill across all the writing activities. Then, I identified the skills where the average score was below 50%.

I created a table to display the results, with two columns: "Skill" and "Average Score". For each skill that had an average below 50%, I listed the skill name and the corresponding average score in the table.

Finally, I formatted the results in a clear and organized way, so that the teachers can easily understand which skills need improvement.

Mark: Suggest three ways to improve this text.

ScriBot:

1. Use clear and concise language to explain the ancient Egyptian beliefs and practices related to the afterlife. Avoid using complex sentence structures and consider breaking down the information into smaller, more digestible chunks for the reader.
2. Provide proper citations and references for the information

Overall Feedback:

Grading Feedback:

General and specific: 5
You have provided relevant content with some development, but the structure could be more competently managed. Try to include more details and features of narrative writing to make your response more engaging and effective.

Style and Accuracy: 3
Your vocabulary and sentence structures are simple, and there are frequent errors in spelling, punctuation, and grammar. Try to use more precise vocabulary and varied sentence structures, and pay closer attention to spelling, punctuation, and grammar to improve your accuracy.

Feedback Categories:

- Task Completion
- Language Conventions
